

TAGGART BEATEN BY CONVENTION

INDIANA DEMOCRATS HAVE A VERY HEATED RESSION
TODAY.

MARSHALL WAS VICTORIOUS

Convention Will Name Candidate For the United States Senate Before Adjournment.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Indianapolis, Ind., April 28.—The big fight at the democratic convention today was over the matter of naming the candidate for senator.
The faction headed by Governor Marshall favored the endorsement of a candidate by the present convention and the Taggart following wanted a state wide primary to decide it.

Several speeches were made and at times the speakers became so bitter in their declarations as to throw the convention into a turmoil of excitement.

The delegates blocked the action and required the strenuous efforts of the police and the conservative leaders to quiet them. At the conclusion of the speeches a roll call was ordered and Governor Marshall's plan won.

This vote by which the Taggart proposition was defeated was 888 to 858.

Senator Shively was then made permanent chairman and delivered an anti-tariff speech.

The platform to be chosen will denounce the new tariff law, and favor a dollar a day pension for the union veteran, a popular election of senators and local self government in the matter of control of the liquor traffic.

On the third ballot for senator John W. Kern was 100 votes short of the nominating by the convention.

BLACK HAND PLOT WORK OF A CHILD

Wausau Youngster Tries to Scare His Teacher Out of $500.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Wausau, Wis., April 28.—That the mind of a youthful American is capable of conceiving great things and that his power of imagination is superior to that of the average adult is no longer questioned. A case which fully demonstrates this fact was furnished by Chief of Police Thomas Malone.

On Monday about noon one of the little boys who attend Zion's parochial school handed his teacher, Wilhelm Wetzel, a note purporting to have been written by a man. The content of the note in effect was that unless Mr. Wetzel delivered $500 in cash to the writer Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, dire results would follow. The place designated for handing over the cash was on the high bridge. Mr. Wetzel, after reading the note, questioned the boy as to where he had gotten it. The boy said a man, slightly lame and with a black overcoat, with the collar partly torn off, black trousers and a soft hat, had written the note on the steps of Zion church and had given it to the boy to be taken to Mr.
Wetzel. The boy also said that the language of the man was probably German, as he did not appear to be crippled. The note was signed "H. H.
H." and also contained rude drawings of a heart pierced with a dagger, a skull and cross bones and other symbols of the black hand society, which has terrorized the people in many of the large cities of the country. The writing was like that of a child, but the spelling and punctuation was perfect.

The letter was at once turned over to Chief Malone and he was on high bridge Tuesday at the appointed hour for "turning over the money," but he failed to see any mysterious looking personages and no one appeared to be looking for a free will offering of any size. From the beginning the chief suspected that it was the work of a child, but thought it advisable to take precaution when he went to the school and had a talk with the boy.
The little lad repeated his story in detail and appeared to be sincere in all his declarations. Finally Chief Malone had him write his name on paper, and the writing was a close resemblance of that of the "Black Hand" letter that an expert was not necessary to trace out the resemblance. The boy was then accused of the act and he confessed. He said he did it for a joke.

SECTION MEN WENT OUT FOR MORE PAY

Laborers Employed in St. Paul Yards Demand Increase in Wages But Are Refused.

Fifteen section men employed by the C. M. & St. Paul Ry. in the Janesville yards, struck this morning for higher wages. They have been receiving $1.50 a day but demand $1.65. Only two of the men are Americans, the remainder being Germans who have been lodged in bunk cars belonging to the road. It is not thought probable that the demands will be granted, but it is believed that the road will secure a new gang. The strikers were ejected from the bunk cars this morning by order of O. J. Franklin, Road Master of the Mineral Point Division.

CYRUS W. FIELD'S SON IS DESTITUTE

Man Once Prominent in Diplomatic Service is One Of The Outcasts Of The Bowery.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York April 28.—Many persons doubtless were surprised when they read the statement of a census enumerator a week or so ago that he had found among the outcasts of the Bowery a man who had once been prominent in the diplomatic service of the United States, also two former members of Congress and a number of men who in their day, before drink and adversity had overtaken them had occupied high and honorable positions in the pulpit, at the bar, and in the medical and other professions. Surprising the statement may be, but not at all improbable, as is evidenced by the case of Edward M. Field, the story of whose life has again been brought into print this week.

After living for years the life of a common vagabond and tramp, subsisting for a time on the bounty of those he knew in prosperity, and later cared for by the Salvation Army, Edward Morse Field, the favorite son of Cyrus W. Field, the "father of the Atlantic Cable," is in Bellevue hospital destitute and suffering with nephritis. If he lives to leave the hospital he will probably return to the Bowery to resume the life he has led for the past fifteen years. He has no visible means of support, and his friends long ago abandoned his case as hopeless.

Less than twenty years ago Field was one of the princes, if not one of the kings, of Wall Street. He was rich, honored, beloved most of all by his beautiful wife, the sister of his partner, Daniel L. Field, and by his father, who, John Bright said, was "the Columbus who moored the O. J. World beside the New" with his Atlantic cable. When disaster came to Edward M. Field it broke his wife's heart and it killed his father.

Field has not only the distinction of being the son of Cyrus W. Field, he is the nephew of the three famous Fields—Stephen J. a Justice of Field, Lindley, Wheeler and Co.
States; David Dudley, authority on international law, leading abolitionist, and member of Congress, and Henry Martyn, the noted author and divine.

In 1891 Edward M. Field was charged with wrecking the bridge of the firm of Field, Lindley, Wheeler and Co. when he failed for $2,000,000. He disappeared as if by magic and was discovered as insane in an asylum in Buffalo in 1902. It was always disputed that he was insane, and it is certain that he "enjoyed" full liberty within the institution. He was released as sane in 1891 and was then able to take on several indictments for forgery and grand larceny, but he was not tried and in 1898 the indictments were dismissed on the ground that there was no possibility then of convicting him.

He continued to go down hill, was arrested at various times for drunkenness, and once for stealing a coat in a Broadway office building. He was pleaded up on the Bowery in 1904 and sent to the psychiatric ward of Bellevue. At that time he was living in a lodging house in the neighborhood of Hell's Kitchen.

About two years ago Field drifted into the night into the Hudson River Mansion in the Bowery. In the mansion that evening was Bradley Lee Gilbert, a well known architect, who now occupies an office on the site of Cyrus W. Field in the building at the foot of Broadway from whom Edward M. Field used to take his meal. He was ready to have it carry him up the Hudson to his home. Gilbert was an early friend of Field in college days. When he found Field in the Mansion he persuaded him to go to the "mourners bench." The mansion people took an interest in him and found him employment in the Salvation Army lodging house in Chatham Square. There he continued to make his headquarters until overruled by the illness which again necessitated his removal to Bellevue.

HARTFORD DIOCESE HAS A NEW BISHOP

Consecration Of Rev. John J. Nihan Took Place Today—Ceremony An Impressive One.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Hartford, Conn., April 28.—The consecration of Rev. John J. Nihan as bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Hartford took place in this city today and was the most brilliant ceremony of its kind ever seen here.
It began in St. Joseph's Cathedral at 10 o'clock this morning and consumed nearly four hours. Interest in the occasion was increased by the attendance of many eminent priests and bishops.

Archbishop of O'Connell of Boston conducted the ceremony, assisted by Bishop Walsh of Portland and Bishop of Fall River. Mrs. Lavelle, of St.
Patrick's Cathedral, New York, was present. The bishop-elect, John J. Nihan, of Providence, R. I., was the son of St. Ignace's of America, and numerous other noted clergymen were present.
The new bishop is fifty-five years old and a native of Newburyport, Mass. He received his education at Nicolet College, Canada, and at St.
Joseph's Seminary, Troy. After his ordination in 1878 he was connected with churches in Boston and other cities and towns of Massachusetts.
For the past seventeen years, until his appointment to succeed the late Bishop Tierney of Hartford, Father Nihan was pastor of St.
Joseph's church in Amherst, Mass.

CHESAPEAKE & OHIO ISSUES MORE BONDS

Capital Stock Increased from $68,000.
000 To $100,000,000 At Instance Of Directors.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Richmond, Va., April 28.—At a special meeting here today the stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad took favorable action on the proposal of the directors to increase the company's capital stock from $68,000,000 to $100,000,000 by the issue of convertible bonds to the amount of $32,000,000. The proceeds of the bond issue, it is understood, will be used to close the deal for the locking up of land of other purchases which the railway interests have been arranging with a view to strengthening the Chesapeake and Ohio system.
The new bonds will bear 4 1/2 per cent. interest, and will run for twenty years, and will be convertible into Chesapeake and Ohio stock at par at the option of the holder, after one year from the date of the bond.

CONSERVATIVES OF REPUBLICAN PARTY WILL SHOW STRENGTH

Entire State Ticket Will Be Presented In Opposition to Candidates of La Follette Faction.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., April 28.—The conservative faction of the republican party in Wisconsin appears determined to present an entire state ticket in opposition to the "huldrone" candidates who have from the so-called La Follette faction. While there is no announcement as yet to this effect, it is certain that the conservatives will present a more united front than will the La Follette people in view of the multiplicity of candidates for the governorship who have appeared from the radical faction.

For governor, State Senator E. T.
Fairchild of Milwaukee will be favored with the solid student vote, will also be the recipient of a substantial support from voters who hold loyalties to the Taft administration, and will also gather in the large anti-local option element. His friends are jubilant over his prospects, particularly in view of the fact that John Strange of Neenah, H. W. Barker of Sparta, E. E. McGovern of Milwaukee and William Mitchell Lewis of Racine all applying to the gubernatorial nomination, have been consistent supporters of the La Follette cause in the past. Moreover, Lewis and Barker are out for county office, which was defeated by the last legislature.

State Senator Thomas Morris of La Crosse, a La Follette man, may go through the campaign unopposed and land the nomination as lieutenant governor. It is said that the students, because of his fairness toward them in the past, do not care to prevent opposition, and that they feel perfectly complacent in the prospect of having him preside over the state senate.

Secretary of state James A. Fournier may yet have opposition, although it is said that Assemblyman E. W.
Lofley of Marinette has concluded not to try for this position.

Julius Howard of Chippewa Falls has announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for state treasurer. He was a candidate for the same office four years ago. He says he will espouse the principles of Roosevelt and Taft. State Treasurer A. H. Dahl is out for reelection, and while friends of Mr. Dahl profess to have no fear for Mr. Howard they would prefer that he be unopposed, for they do not know how effective may be the reluctance of voters to give a man three successive terms in a state office.

Assemblyman Michael Cherry of Blanchardville will oppose Herman L.
Ekern, whose announcement is being withheld for some reason, but is expected daily. The chances are that Assemblyman George B. Eckert will step aside for Mr. Ekern, who has been his deputy, and run instead for congress in the Eleventh district.

Both A. C. Titus and Frank T.
Tucker, assistant attorneys general, are out for attorney general as "progressives," while Mr. Tucker is known as being close to La Follette. Mr.
Titus on his part denies being a star-wart. A third possibility is Henry A.
Cunderson of Portage, who was first in the field, his announcement being made several months ago.

CONFEDERATE VETS IN A BIG PARADE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Mobile, Ala., April 28.—Through streets gay with flags and bunting the grand old veterans of the Confederate States Army marched in martial array today, thus bringing to a spectacular close one of the most successful reunions they have held in recent years. The city officers, banks and many business houses were closed and the people of Mobile made the occasion a holiday. Long before the parade started the streets were packed with humanity. Every window along the route was filled and the public stands in the parks and at prominent street intersections had no vacant space.

Spontaneous and enthusiastic applause greeted the veterans all along the line of march. Though Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi had the largest number of marchers in the line there was no State or division of the veterans organization that was not well represented. The line was intersperced with numerous bands and the city was filled with the melody of familiar Southern airs. One of the unique features of the parade that was greeted with cheers all along the line was a genuine wagon train, such as were in service during the war. The train, which consisted of eleven wagons, was equipped and manned by members of Forrest's cavalry corps.

Thirteen Year Old Drunk: Willie Wheelock, aged thirteen, was picked up by the police yesterday afternoon in a drunken condition and the services of a physician were necessary last night in bringing him around. His case is being investigated and the child was released until tomorrow at ten.

sippi are Holding Annual

ing. Tonight the formal opening

Meridian, Miss., April 28.—Several hundred teachers are in the city for the annual meeting of the Mississippi Teachers' association, which has its formal opening in the opera house tonight. An attendance of more than 1,000 is expected when the regular proceedings are begun tomorrow morning. President John E. Ellis of Meridian, Secretary E. L. Bailey of Jackson and the other officers of the association have prepared an excellent two day's programme for the conference. In addition to the several general sessions, which will be addressed by educators of note, there will be a number of department meetings for the discussion of elementary and rural school improvement, and the teaching of science, history and other branches of learning.

Green Bay, Wis., April 28.—Marlin Denny, an Oneida Indian, committed suicide by hanging himself last night.
Denny came quietly away from his home early in the evening and went a distance of about a mile into the woods. He then tied one end of a rope around his neck and the other to the branch of a tree. His body was found hanging from the tree this morning. Despondency over money difficulties was thought to have been the cause for his act. He leaves a widow.

PRODUCTIVE FARMS MORE IMPORTANT THAN TARIFF

President of New York Central Road Sees Economic Crisis In 1913.

New York, April 28.—Declaring that the necessity for making the farms of this country more productive was of greater importance than all other questions of public policy, W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central line, predicted an economic crisis in the United States in 1913 before a conference in the New York Produce Exchange.

By means of a huge statistical chart, the railroad official demonstrated that with the present yearly increase in population and decrease in food products, the United States will, by 1913, be importing many of the simplest necessities of life.

President Brown said the statistics reveal a most serious present economic problem and foreshadow an economic crisis the importance of which is but faintly appreciated.

The conference at the produce exchange was the result of the widespread desire among the people of New York state especially to increase the productivity of the farming lands.

So great was the interest in this important question that Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor, together with the entire congressional delegation from New York, attended.

FOLDING BED KILLS RICH MAN.

Millionaire Crushed to Death—Mystery in the Case.
New York, April 28.—Henry Willington Smith, millionaire paper manufacturer of Lee, Mass., and delegate to the Republican national convention in 1880, was crushed to death in a folding bed. She was known to the boarding-house as his wife, but investigation showed that Mrs. Smith had not left her home in Lee.

"Fear Malady" Lasting.
As a rule a "fear" malady seldom approaches the bounds of lunacy, although occasionally it is accompanied by true hallucinations. A cure is always difficult and usually doubtful. The person born with a fear of blood, corpses, of high places or of sharp instruments, retains it all his life. Only rarely do educational influences rid him of it.—New Haven Palladium.

VALUABLE DOG WAS KILLED BY AN AUTO

Two Hundred and Fifty Dollar Bull Terrier of M. R. Osburn Met Death Today.
Another valuable dog, has gone to the happy hunting ground, or wherever the dog heaven is, due to the fact of driving of an auto. It might just as well have been a baby that had crawled into the street or some ten or twelve-year-old child running along that was hit as the poor puppy who did not know how to get out of the way of the automobile driven at reckless law breaking speed. The law under a strict provision for the speed that autos may be driven inside a city limits but the average auto demonstrator believes the law is made to break and there is not an hour in the day that the law is not violated and the statue shattered as though never created. The canine in this case belonged to M. R. Osburn, manager of the Rock County Sugar Company. It was the gift of a brother-in-law and was valued at two hundred and fifty dollars. The animal was killed in front of the Osburn home on Court street by a car driven by Walter Kurl, which spectators were going to an extra fast rate of speed. Much indignation is felt by the residents of Court street and Milton avenue where the auto sped it up and a few arrests of law violators would clarify the atmosphere very much.

PILGRIMS RETURN FROM FAR ALBERTA

Ira Fleher and W. T. Dooley Liked Dalmy Climate and Fine Water Supply But Bought No Land.

Ira Fleher and W. T. Dooley returned this morning from their trip to Scott, Alberta, which is located 600 miles west of Winnipeg. Neither invested in any Canadian prairie land, which is selling at $10 and $20 an acre, but Fred Gluing and Tom Richardson, who were with them on the journey, got to Winnipeg on the return trip and then started back over the "trail again." That party of 56 with whom they traveled in special trains not only saw no snow but were not uncomfortably warm Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, and the Janesville motorists were badly smothered. Thirteen automobiles and six carryalls conveyed them 34 miles across the rolling plains where no roads had been cut, and the autos raced with one another and gave the local men the most hair-raising rides they had ever experienced. Mr. Fleher says that there were more farm machinery and high class farm wagons in the little town of Scott than he had ever seen in Janesville at one time. He brought back samples of barley which ran 200 bushels to the acre. Oxen and horses and traction engines were working in the fields and swarms of hantarians were everywhere in evidence. The visitors admired the big stores in Winnipeg which employ 3,000 clerks, the streets eight rods wide, and other evidences of an advanced state of civilization, but they did not appreciate the high prices of the simplest necessities and luxuries which prevailed in the vicinity of Scott. Mr. Dooley claims that a man whom he saw digging a trench, found frost seven feet below the surface and had to abandon the task.

DOCTORS REGISTER EMPHATIC PROTEST

Medical Association Committee Appointed to Urge Increase in City Health Officer's Salary.

That the Rock County Medical association has not yet given up the fight to secure adequate compensation for the city health officer, is shown by the fact that, at the last meeting of the organization, when the subject had been reduced, it was decided to appoint a committee to confer with the aldermen and do everything possible to increase the salary. Two Janesville physicians, Drs. G. W. Elfield and E. E. Leoniak were named, and with the president, Dr. D. L. Council of Beloit, will represent the medical association. Although it has been stated that this committee would appear before the council at the next regular meeting, it is not thought probable that this will be done.

At the same time that the matter of the health officer was acted on, final arrangements were made for the annual banquet of the association which will be held in Beloit at the date for the next regular meeting, the third Tuesday in May.

AUTHORITIES CLAIM CONVINCING PROOFS

Janesville Workman Under Arrest at Madison For Arson Believed Guilty by Officers There.
According to Madison dispatches, Charles Burroughs, the Janesville hantarian junker, under arrest in that city for arson, is said to have left a bad trail of evidence behind him for the authorities to work upon.

Fire Marshal Complaint.
Burroughs is charged, in a complaint sworn to by State Fire Marshal T. N. Purnell, with feloniously setting fire to a dwelling occupied by him in South Madison on April 13, with intent to defraud the Westchester Fire Insurance Co. He held a policy in that company insuring $1,000, and the fire he swore to a "proof of loss" and proposed to collect about $300, alleging that almost all of the property covered by the policy was destroyed.

Some Things Not Burnt.
A trunk is now over in the sheriff's office containing a number of articles having been recovered from the fire. It is said that the trunk will disclose evidence of quick and hurried sale of rugs and other articles which seem to be listed in the "proof of loss." It is said that Burroughs notified his wife one day that if she wanted to save anything in the house she might sell it or otherwise dispose of it; that she offered a rug for $10 for $7, but before the neighbor had time to buy, the rug had been closed out to some one else for $5. A trunk was taken away before the fire. It was a heavy one and well filled with personal property. It was traced to a house on East Johnson street, Madison, and is now in the possession of the sheriff.

The building was the property of A. Van Dusen and was a total loss. On the building there was insurance of about half the damage to the structure. The insurance will not be invalidated by the alleged criminal action brought against the tenant.

Worked in Janesville.
Burroughs was a hantarian junker, but since the strike in Madison was declared he worked for a time in Janesville. At the time of the fire, Burroughs told a story of making a horrible rescue of his sick wife. He also displayed some burns. It is said by neighbors that he received these slight burns while taking part in the work to save the house next to the one destroyed.

Suspicious Circumstances.
He said the fire started in a bedroom down stairs, but it appears that the whole upper part of the house was a mass of flames before any neighbors arrived and that they then took out from that bedroom all its contents. There was some fire there then and it is said that on some of the articles recovered there still remains tarsoxon.

Had Arson Fire.
Some inquiry has been made at Columbus, Mo., where Burroughs formerly lived. The information is uncomplimentary to Burroughs, and full of sympathy for his wife. It is said that he left her some years ago and she accused a divorce, but a remarriage was brought about after Burroughs showed up again. It is said that eight months ago he left Columbus after a fire the circumstances of which are somewhat similar to those surrounding the fire at South Madison. He got the insurance there.

Wife Said to be Good.
Burroughs is fairly well dressed, thin of face, sharp of eye and possessed of a rather loud, shrill voice. His wife, a woman of medium size, apparently has not had an easy or pleasant life, seems to be an industrious and honest woman, is well spoken of by neighbors here and in Columbus, and is said to have been driven by threats to at least refrain from exposing errors of her husband.

The penalty for the offense charged is three to fourteen years in state's prison.

CHARGE STOCK FRAUDS MAY REACH $10,000,000

Three Directors in Fifteen Wyoming Concerns Are Sued in the Federal Court.

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 28.—In a suit filed in the United States circuit court here, E. W. Cobb, E. A. Nelson and F. H. Draper, directors of the Penn-Wyoming Copper company and 14 other concerns are charged with conspiring to defraud by fraudulent stock manipulations and irregular charging deals.

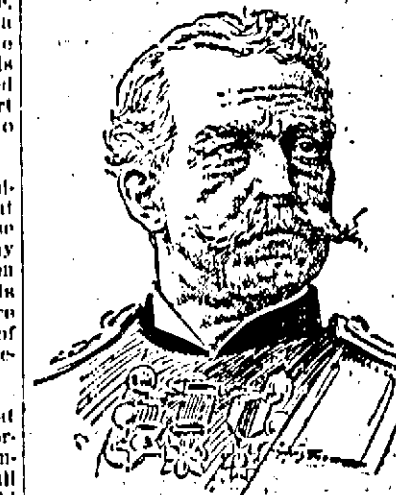

The complaint charges that the stockholders of the companies involved were defrauded of from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000.

The suit brought today was filed by David N. Provan and other stockholders of the Penn-Wyoming Copper company as interveners in a suit brought January 25 by L. Hawes of West Virginia asking for the appointment of J. N. Pennock of Ohio as receiver of the United Smelters, Railway and Copper company. The interveners claim the property in the hands of the court really belongs to the Penn-Wyoming Copper company. Cobb, Norton and Draper and others are alleged to have organized the United Smelters, Railway and Copper company with a board of dummy directors and fraudulently and without knowledge of the stockholders transferred the property of the Penn-Wyoming Copper company to the United company.

Friends of Boyce and Sutherland Allege Guggenheim Influence.

Washington, April 28.—President Taft directed the removal from office of Daniel A. Sunderland, United States marshal for the district of Alaska, and of John J. Boyce, district attorney for the first division of Alaska. General incompetency was the charge against the marshal.

Juneau, Alaska, April 28.—Partisans of United States Attorney John J. Boyce and Marshal Daniel A. Sunderland held meetings in Juneau, Skagway, Haines and Sitka, to protest against the removal of those officials. Resolutions were adopted demanding congressional investigation of the removals, then impending, which were alleged to be due to Guggenheim influence.

In this city Gov. Walter E. Clark was burned in effigy. A message was read from Senator Borah of Idaho promising that the protests against the removals would have a hearing in Washington.

"Seven-Twenty-Eight" Will be Presented at the Commencement Exercises in June.

The play which the Senior class of the high school will present at the commencement exercises in June, has practically been decided upon, and Mrs. Janet H. Day, who has the work of drilling the members of the cast in the production of the play, has been trying out various members of the drama class on the cast. The class chosen is "Seven-Twenty-Eight," a farce comedy by Augustin Daly of New York. Mr. Daly, the author, is one of the best known theatrical men and playwrights in this country today and "Seven-Twenty-Eight" is the product of a master workman. The play is full of good, clean and wholesome comedy and its presentation by the class of 1910 will undoubtedly be as popular as any class play ever given at the high school.

MINERS THREATEN VIOLENCE.

Sheriff With Deputies Guard Mines at Toluca Against Attack.

Pearla, Ill., April 28.—In fear of violence and possible bloodshed, Sheriff John L. Howard of Lacon, with a score of armed deputies, are guarding the Toluca coal company's mine at Toluca, a Marshall county village. Trouble is threatened and may break out at any minute. Five hundred foreign-born men, until the general strike was called, were employed in the mines, have threatened to attack the officers for protecting the mines. Most of the foreigners are well armed with revolvers and knives.

Differences over the pending negotiations for an agreement between the Illinois miners and operators are said to have started the trouble.

The stampede occurred as the beasts were being unloaded from their cars. All of the beasts were finally captured.

THEATER

"Polly of the Circus."

In the company appearing in Frederic Thompson's "Polly of the Circus," with Miss Fay Wallace in the leading part, which appears at the Myers theatre, Monday evening, May 2, are, in addition to a score or more of well known actors, a number of circus people and circus acts which contribute not a little to the success of the play. The big third act sawdust scene represents a three-ring circus in actual operation—one of the most realistic stage pictures ever shown on a stage.

One of the many features of "Polly of the Circus" is a trained horse, one of a kind called by the attraction, "The animal is called 'Bingo' and is a thoroughbred. He was brought to this country by Barnum and Bailey's circus and afterwards sold to the New York Hippodrome when Frederic Thompson was the managing director. During the summer time 'Bingo' is one of the features of that great amusement place, Luna park, Coney Island, New York city. Miss Wallace and 'Bingo' are ations for the wedding, she regulates the use of her vocal powers.

Then comes the great moment of the play. Will Adeline forgive or forget? Will she marry the doctor or will she choose Pietro? That is the question which is happily solved at the fall of the curtain.

"The Climax" will be presented with the same excellent cast that appeared here last January in this beautiful drama.

"Isle of Spice."

H. C. Whitney's company of fifty people will be seen at the Myers theatre Saturday, April 30, matinee and evening, in the musical extravaganza, the "Isle of Spice." This production comes comparatively known to a great many theatre-goers through this section of the country. It is said this extravaganza created a sensation in Chicago where it ran for twenty-six weeks. It was then produced in London, where it delighted music-loving audiences fourteen weeks and thence to New York City, at the Majestic appeared. Miss Annino's songs are all high class, and will, no doubt, please all who hear her. Since leaving this city last winter the band has made a great tour of the northwest and is now playing return dates to packed houses and pleasing thousands. Janesville is indeed fortunate in the return of D'Urbano and his famous band as it is beyond any question one of the finest musical organizations that has ever visited our city. For this engagement Manager Myers has placed the price of admission at 25 cents to all parts of the theatre for matinee and evening.

SABATH WON LAND BILL FIGHT.

Congressman Obtains Concessions for Prospective Homesteaders.

Washington, April 28.—As the outcome of the fight made in the house by Representative Sabath of Chicago, prospective settlers on the Rosebud and Standing Rock reservations will not be required to make the journey thither in order to register for the land drawings.

Mr. Sabath says this will save homesteaders more than $4,500,000 in railroad fare.

The Chicagoan forced his plan through the house as an amendment to the bill providing for the sale of the surplus lands of these reservations. The bill provided that all persons except old soldiers must register for drawings in person at the land agencies on the reservations.

PAULHAN WINS $50,000 FLIGHT.

Soars From London to Manchester, 186 Miles, at Night.

Manchester, April 28.—Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, arrived here this morning at 6:30 o'clock, winner of the $50,000 prize offered by the Daily Mail for a flight from London to this city, the distance being 186 miles. Paulhan's victory over Graham White, the English aviator, is regarded as a more severe blow to the prestige of England than the historic flight of that other Frenchman, Blériot, over the channel.

Both men used Farman biplanes of the latest type. The flight was remarkable for the great height at which the aviators made their journey.

Georgia Minstrels.

Thirty years ago the company bearing the title of Richards & Pringle's minstrels was organized in Macon, Ga., and consisted of less than fifteen people. Today this organization carries nearly forty people and is known as the leading minstrel company of the country. There is not a city of any consequence in America where this company has not appeared.

Initiation is the sincerest flattery. Since their modest inception thirty years ago they have been imitated by countless companies who have flourished for a time and then fallen by the wayside.

This splendid organization will appear at the Myers theatre on Thursday, April 28. There will be a big street parade at noon, headed by Fred Simpson's challenge band and a concert in front of the theatre at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

"The Climax."

"The Climax," with the original company, coming direct from its remarkable run of almost a year at Weber's theatre, New York, appears at the Myers theatre, Friday evening, April 29.

When the play was produced last season it was declared by the critics to be the biggest hit since "The Musketeer."

"The Climax" is presented in three acts with one interior scene and New York as its locale. The characters are Adeline von Hagen, Luigi Golfanti, Pietro Golfanti and John Raymond.

Luigi is a young culturalist. Pietro is his son, a voice composer with a bright future. Adeline is a distant relative and pupil, while John Raymond is a young physician beloved of Adeline.

Luigi and his son vow with favor the efforts of Adeline to follow an operatic career, the doctor-dover being the opposed force. He tries to turn Adeline from her ambitions, offering his love as a compensation. Just as she has accepted an engagement to go on a tour, it becomes necessary for her to undergo a surgical operation on her throat. The doctor treats her throat after the operation has been performed, impressing upon her mind that there is just one chance in a thousand of her losing her noted voice. He makes this point so emphatic that it impresses her imagination, and when she tries to sing, she falls utterly.

Having lost her voice Adeline promises to marry the doctor, but in her excitement incident to her preparation theatre, in which place it quickly established itself as a prime favorite among the metropolitan theatre-goers for a number of months. Absolute novelty is claimed for the construction of this musical mixture, and the chorus numbers are said to be marvelous of stage invention. The musical numbers are of the storable, wholehearted kind, and there is no doubt but what the most catchy of them will be heard on the streets long after the engagement here. Among the most attractive features of the "Isle of Spice" is a "pony ballet," composed of twelve girls, not weighing over one thousand pounds for the entire lot, who do some very clever work throughout the entire performance.

D'Urbano's Band, manager of the Myers theatre, has completed negotiations with the management of D'Urbano's wonderful Italian band for a return date in this city. The band will play at the local theatre on Sunday, May 1, matinee and evening.

This musical organization was here for two weeks, inclusive, last winter and gave great satisfaction, being considered one of the best bands that ever visited this city. There are forty-five men, all accomplished musicians, in the band and their concert all through the country have been met with applause. It is probable that the forthcoming engagement will be the last opportunity our people will have to hear this band. Since leaving Janesville a new soloist has joined the band, Miss Leonora Annino, who comes from the Italian Grand Opera Co. of Milan, Italy, who also has numerous good notices from European cities, where she has appeared.

Trouble Enough.

"Tain't no use o' gettin' mad at a man foh bein' foolish," said Uncle Eben. "He's gwinter hab trouble enough 'bout your brother's to give 'im any."

DR. B. C. HYDE GOES TO JAIL

JUDGE ORDERS DOCTOR INTO CUSTODY BECAUSE OF DAMAGING TESTIMONY.

PHYSICIAN HAS TRYING DAY

Evidence is Adduced That He Bought Large Quantities of Poison and Procured Typhoid Germs From Kansas City Bacteriologist.

Kansas City, Mo., April 22.—Dr. B. C. Hyde's bond of $100,000 was revoked and the physician was placed in the county jail by the order of Judge Lathrop. This action means Doctor Hyde must remain in prison until he is declared innocent by a jury, or is permitted by the court to furnish a new bond.

The physician was deprived of the liberty that he has enjoyed ever since the indictments charging him with a series of almost unparalleled crimes were returned by the grand jury, upon the order of Judge Lathrop of the criminal court of Jackson county just before the adjournment of court.

Bad Day for Hyde.

The remaining of Doctor Hyde to the custody of the court marshal came after a day in which indictment after indictment, damaging, convincing and terrible in their nature, came from the lips of witnesses.

The jury had filed out in solemn order when Judge Lathrop called the marshal before him and said:

"In view of the testimony thus far given in this trial the court is constrained to say that it amounts to a presumption of guilt that under the law deprives the defendant of the right to go on bond and he is hereby and for that reason remanded to the custody of the marshal."

Mrs. Hyde in Collapse.

Following this announcement Mrs. Hyde, who once collapsed during the day, under the weight of adverse testimony, was prostrated and her condition is such that physicians are in constant attendance.

Doctor Hyde underwent the hardest and most trying day of his whole life. He sat, as impassive as ever, save for a slight twitching about the mouth and hands.

It was brought out by the testimony of witnesses:

That Doctor Hyde had purchased both before and after the deaths of Col. Thomas and Chrisman Swope, enough cyanide of potassium to have killed thousands of persons.

That Doctor Hyde gave as his reason for the large purchases of this most deadly of poisons that "he wanted to kill dogs with it."

That Doctor Hyde specifically ordered this poison to be put up in the form of capsules.

That in size, form and general appearance these capsules of potassium cyanide were almost indistinguishable from the "digestive tablets" that were given to the Swope.

That druggists of years' experience had never known of cyanide of potassium to be put up in capsule form before.

Procures Typhoid Germs.

That Doctor Hyde, previous to the deaths and the illness in the Swope mansion, had procured from a leading bacteriologist of Kansas City large quantities of typhoid and diphtheria germs.

That at least two of these germ cultures had been tampered with and a large part of their contents removed from the tubes in which they were originally contained.

That the bacteriologist, having been questioned, set the cultures where not being used for a scientific purpose, had visited Hyde's office during the latter's absence in New York and had substituted some harmless germs for the typhoid and diphtheria germs.

Nurses Were Suspicious. That the nurses in the Swope home during the epidemic of typhoid, feeling sure that they were being used as the unwilling instruments of death, struck and refused to go on with their duties unless Doctor Hyde left the home.

And finally and probably the most important of all, that the autopsy on the body of Col. Thomas H. Swope proved conclusively to the eminent medical authorities who performed it that death was not due to natural causes.

RUTH BRYAN TO MARRY AGAIN.

Daughter of Nebraska Is Betrothed to an English Lieutenant.

New York, April 22.—At Fairview, Neb., the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, their oldest daughter, Ruth Bryan Leavitt, will be married next Tuesday, May 3, to Reginald Owen of the British Royal Engineers.

No formal announcement will be made of the interesting event until the young couple are fairly on their way to the bridegroom's ancestral home in England.

The marriage will be the culmination of a romance of short duration and which has been conducted very quietly. Mrs. Leavitt met her fiancé first in Colorado late last summer. He was visiting relatives there. It was a case of "love at first sight."

May 8 Is "Mothers' Day."

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—Governor Deneen issued a proclamation designating Sunday, May 8, as mothers' day.

"DRY" TICKET IS NAMED IN IOWA

Prohibitionists Nominate E. A. McEachron of Waterloo for Governor.

Des Moines, Ia., April 22.—Without a single hitch in the proceedings except with reference to the wording of certain planks in the platform, the Iowa prohibitionists nominated a full state ticket, which will be placed before the voters by petition, owing to a failure of the party to poll two percent of the total vote at the last election in Iowa.

E. A. McEachron of Waterloo was nominated for governor.

The platform demands included a repeal of the illicit law, resubmission of the prohibition amendment to a vote of the people, a graduated income tax and a repeal of the internal revenue law.

Nashville, Ill., April 22.—The Prohibition county convention held here endorsed William J. Bryan of Nebraska for president.

KETCHEL OUTPOINTS LANGFORD.

Makes a Cyclone Finish in Their Six-Round Contest.

Philadelphia, April 22.—Stanley Ketchel, champion middleweight of the world, defeated Sam Langford, the negro challenger for the title, in six viciously fast rounds before the National Athletic club last night. It was about a toss-up between the pair until the final round. The champion tore into his foe in the sixth round, hammered Langford all over the ring and had the negro so badly occupied that he could do nothing but protect himself. A couple of healthy body wallops at the start of the sixth did the business. One of the biggest crowds that has seen a fight in the past in many years was gathered around the ring.

MAMMERSTEIN QUILTS THE FIELD

GREAT IMPRESARIO ANNOUNCES HIS WITHDRAWAL FROM GRAND OPERA.

SELLS OUT HIS INTEREST

Disposes of His Holdings to Philadelphia Millionaire and Metropolitan Company for Over $2,000,000—Fights Powerful Combine for Years.

New York, April 22.—Oscar Hammerstein, through his counsel, Samuel Untermyer, and his son Arthur, announces that he has abandoned the field of grand opera.

The most picturesque impresario of American history, who single-handed for four years fought successfully a powerful combination of wealth and society, who dazzled the country with the gorgeousness of his productions and the splendor of his song birds, has parted with his Philadelphia opera house, all his contracts for singers, his scenery and stage properties, manuscripts and production rights.

In return he has received a check for a little more than $2,000,000, which gives him the unique distinction of being the only producer of grand opera in this country who ever made money. He made a little more than $1,000,000 in the four years.

The purchasers are E. T. Stotesbury, the Philadelphia multi-millionaire, and the Metropolitan Opera company, jointly.

Means Only One Season.

And this means that there will be but one season of fashionable grand opera in this city next year and but one in Philadelphia, where the old Academy of Music must give way to the newer house of amusement. Gatti-Casazza and the present directorship of the Metropolitan opera house will have absolute charge of the seasons, not only in New York and Philadelphia, but in Brooklyn, Boston and Chicago.

The stars of the present Manhattan company will share with their old rivals if they want to sing in anything but concert in this country, and old rivals will be thrown with one another again.

FALL WITH THEATER FLOOR.

Collapse Causes Panic in New York Playhouse.

New York, April 22.—When 25 persons were buying tickets in the lobby of the Metropolitan theater, a moving picture and vaudeville amusement place at 131 Essex street, the floor collapsed, carrying all of them into the cellar, 12 feet below and causing terror among the 300 persons already in the house.

Somebody raised a cry of fire and there was a stampede for the front exit. A policeman in the audience shouted to an attendant to slam the doors shut and he did so, and to this is due the saving of many lives.

While the crowd was rushing to the front exit a woman in the gallery, who had a child under her arm, leaped on top of the surging crowd below, a distance of about fifteen feet, and fell across the shoulders of men and women with her double burden, escaping unhurt.

In the meantime the mass of humanity piled up in the dark cellar was shouting in pain and fear and in the street the cry was started that the building was falling. It is not believed that any of the injured, of whom there were nearly a score, will die.

STOLEN MAIL BAG
TAKEN FROM ROCK
RIVER YESTERDAY

Police Missing Since Nov. 27, Found at Monterey by Frank Buggs—Everything of Value Taken.
While fishing in Rock river near Monterey yesterday morning, Frank Buggs, son of Otto Buggs of S. Park St., brought to light the missing mail bag, stolen from the Chicago and North-Western passenger station on the night of Nov. 27 and for which the U. S. postal department has been searching for since.
Immediately upon pulling the sad-denly missing out of the water and sending what sort of a fish he had landed, the mail notified Postmaster Valentine who had the pouch brought to the local office where it awaits the coming of a postoffice inspector. Both the bag and contents are water-soaked and it is doubtful if the find will furnish any clue as to the identity of the robbers.
The stolen pouch was forwarded from that on Nov. 27, for the reason that no train connects for the speedy delivery of the mail could be made in the Lake City. It was left on the station platform and during the evening a mysterious disappearance of the pouch had been reported.
A chase which was kept by postoffice officials but up to yesterday day no trace had been discovered.
When found, the bag was covered with slime and mud and the addresses on the contained letters were almost unrecognizable. Nearly all the letters had been opened and anything of value removed, after which the bag was weighed with stones and sunk in the river. An effort is being made to dry the letters and if possible, forward them to their destination. Among the papers left in the pouch were the stubs of a number of money orders which showed that the robber had not wasted his efforts.

STOCK ASSESSMENTS
WILL BE INCREASED

Increase in Value of Animals Will Mean Increase in Assessments.
At the meeting of the board of assessment of Rock County held Tuesday at the court house, it was decided that the value of stock had increased in value the valuation placed on it should also be raised. The most notable increase is in the average value of horses. The supervisor E. P. Starr, in making his recommendations stated that in his opinion, the average assessment for horses should be eighty dollars instead of seventy dollars as the average was heretofore. In outlining the work of the board, Mr.
Starr said that it would be a continuation of the methods of the past year, with improvements, wherever possible and the eighty per cent basis of valuation will be continued. E. P.
Livermore of Belmont, spoke to the members of the board adding that the work of the board is in accomplishing their task.

SEMINARY BOYS IN SPEAKING CONTEST

Ivan Fay Awarded First Place and Julian Rowley, Second, in Rhetorical Contest Tuesday.
[Special to the Gazette.]
Evanoville, April 27.—The seminary boys' contest Tuesday evening was an unusually interesting one. The contestants were seven in number and showed the results of their training.
Their selections were good, and though all but one appeared for the first time, their work was unusually good for beginners. It is to be hoped that these contests will be a feature of the year's work hereafter. Mrs.
O. C. Colyer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Groat, W. W. Gilles and O. S. Shumpeter were the judges and they managed to award places as follows: Ivan Fay, first; Julian Rowley, second; Victor Tulke, third.
Lodge Anniversary.
The local lodge of Odd Fellows observed the first anniversary of the order in a fitting manner at their hall last evening. At seven o'clock the members and their wives numbering about a hundred assembled around the banquet board and partook of an appetizing meal which was prepared and served by the gentlemen. All agreed that the supper was better than the average and those having the bill of fare in charge may justly be proud of their efforts. A short program was then given and games and dancing formed a pleasant part of the evening's entertainment. Music was furnished by Miss Cora Harris and the Messrs. Burr Tolles and J.
Eastman.

MONROE PASTOR TO GO TO BLACK HAWK

Rev. Nienstedt, Who Has Been in Monroe For Four Years, Assigned To New Pastorate.
[Special to the Gazette.]
Monroe, Wis., April 28.—Rev. J. P.
Nienstedt has been assigned to the pastorate of the Emmanuel Evangelical church at Black Hawk, Sauk county. Mr. Nienstedt has occupied the pastorate of the church here for the past four years, and during that time has increased his congregation by one hundred members. The church has also prospered financially under his leadership, a new parsonage having been added to the church property here due to his interest and activities. The pastor has been an energetic worker and his church has taken rapid strides during his four years' pastorate.
Rev. Nienstedt expected to take his family to his new field of work at once, but upon returning from his conference at Madison, found his four-year-old daughter, Evelyn, very ill with pneumonia, hence his removal will be delayed until the child's condition improves.
D'Urbano in Monroe.
D'Urbano's band of five Italian musicians gave one of the best if not the best concert that has ever been given in the local opera house to a large sized crowd. The members of the company are all artists, and they made a big hit with the spectators was attested by the fact that each selection was loudly endorsed, especially the rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner," everyone in the hall rising when the first strains of this national song reached through the hall. Manager Young, of the opera house is arranging for a return engagement of three nights running. D'Urbano having consented to again appear in Monroe at a later date, possibly in October.
Doubts the Prophecies.
James Dehn, the man at the electric light plant, who has been watching every clear morning for the comet to appear, has about given up seeing the heavenly body and has about made up his mind that this comet business is greatly overdone. Yesterday morning he climbed upon the whistle tower at 3:30, when the comet was scheduled to rise, and stood there until sun-up without seeing a sign of the promised spectacle.
Soldiers' Reunion.
The Green County Soldiers' League will hold a reunion at the armory this evening to commemorate the departure of the local soldiers for Jacksonville, Fla. The company went to Milwaukee, where the regiments of the Wisconsin National Guard were mobilized. At the conclusion of the Spanish-American war in 1908, they were mustered out of service.
A number of the volunteers of 1908 are included in the membership of the league.
On Tuesday evening, the board of education will meet to consider the appointments to the positions in the schools. The board had intended to elect the teaching force sooner, but on account of the illness of Henry Ladlow, a member of the board, who is in the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago, it was decided to wait until Tuesday evening, when Mr. Ladlow will be present.
Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Donnell have gone to Waukesha where Mr.
O'Donnell will take treatments at the spring there. They expect to be gone for some time.
Mrs. Chas. Miller was at Chicago last evening to meet her father, C.
P. Asmus, on his return from a year's sojourn at Entebbe, Ore.
Mrs. Anna Knight and Miss Grace Gillman have gone to Hampton, Va., for a visit with relatives. They stopped at Newport for a visit on route.
Rev. P. A. Schuh left yesterday for Vulcania, Ind., to visit his son, Benjamin Schuh, who is attending school there.

THE NEW STYLE OF THE STAGE.
Nat Goodwin, the actor, is out in a book telling the story of his four marriages.
Which, to say the least of it, is a foolish thing.
The sacredness of marriage, no less than natural decency, ought to be sufficient to deter any one from making his private marital experiences into an open book for all may gaze.
Maybe Goodwin's book is an advertising scheme. If so, he is making a mistake.
Heretofore marriage and divorce and such things as the personal eccentricities, the dress, the exhibitions of temper, of many of the stage favorites have been utilized as "good advertising" with which to swell the box of office receipts.
But a change has come over the spirit of things publicly. The old methods are stale.
Formerly when some celebrity secured a divorce from his "strength" wife or exploited some new headline the story was good for black headlines on the first page. Nowadays such news is scarcely worth the telegraph toll and is relegated, under a small heading, into an obscure corner.
This is the new style.
When the illustrated Sunday newspapers want a page story they send reporters and staff artists to tell of the daily lunches madame makes with her clinging dith. And the artists take pictures of the husband and the baby.
Heretofore husbands and babies have been supernumeraries in a star's household.
Some time ago when the star was Barrymore the papers devoted columns concerning the preparations and the wedding garments that had been fashioned for the coming guest. And afterwards there were pictures galore in the newspapers and magazines of the mother and the baby.
Another instance of the new free advertising is shown by the many pictures of Grace George playing baby games with her little son.
It is really good advertising these days to let it be known that a great singer or actress is a devoted wife and good mother.
The change is significant.
And good for the effects.
It is good for the actress even to play at wifehood and mothering. And it gives a healthier tone to the stage.
Moreover, the right ideals are presented, and the stage thus reflects the real American life and homes.
Distinctions.

ture is a dignified and desirable profession?" "It depends," replied Miss

The Optimist's Corner
Daily Helps to Health and Happiness
By GEORGE P. BUTLER, A.M., M.D.

Our business and professional men are hard workers. They are their wives and children but little except at table. That seems to be about the only family gathering. What a spectacle is the management of some of these family meals!
The father sits in glum silence and eats as fast as he can swallow. The children follow the parental example. The food is passed only when asked for.
There is nothing human about it.
It doesn't differ in any essential particular from a group of pigs gathered about a trough. If these gatherings were wisely managed; if experiences of the children in their schools were lovingly called out by parental interest; if such news as the parents had picked up since the last meeting were told—if this were the scene at the table three times a day, it would grow by what it feeds on. The table meetings would be most attractive to the small people.
The parents would grow into a loving oneness with their children. It would prove the greatest blessing to every member of the group, and in the long run would contribute more to the physical, intellectual, social and moral development of the young people than any other agency I can name.

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

Is the latest practical, scientific cook-stove. It will cook the most elaborate dinner without heating the kitchen.

Boils, bakes, or roasts better than any range. Ready in a second. Extinguished in a second. Fitted with Cabinet Top, with collapsible rests, towel rack, and every up-to-date feature imaginable. You want it, because it will cook any dinner and not heat the room. No heat, no smell, no smoke, no coal to bring in, no ashes to carry out. It does away with the drudgery of cooking, and makes it a pleasure. Women with the light touch for pastry especially appreciate it, because they can immediately have a quick fire, simply by turning a handle. No half-hour preparation. It not only is less trouble than coal, but it costs less. Absolutely no smell, no smoke, and it doesn't heat the kitchen.

The nickel finish, with the turquoise blue of the enameled chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

Pronounced by Roosevelt the Most Impressive Statue in the World
Statue of Col. John A. Seward

The monument of Col. John A. Seward which Col. Roosevelt called "the most impressive statue in the world," was erected in the latter part of the nineteenth century. It was modeled by architect, Leonard A. Seward, teacher. Ruskin said of it that he did not believe there was a more glorious work of sculpture anywhere. Bartolommeo Colonna was a general of the Venetian republic, who died in 1475.

Fluttering Hearts

"I have had heart trouble for 40 years; after taking 18 bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I am entirely cured, and to-day I do not feel the slightest effect of heart trouble." DAVID FRAZIER, State Soldiers Home, Erie, Co., Ohio.

Fluttering indicates a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. Like palpitation, shortness of breath, pain in side and shoulder, it is frequently followed by the worst form of heart disease; therefore it should not be neglected.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is a most reliable heart medicine. It strengthens and regulates the heart action, stimulates the digestive organs, and increases the circulation. The first bottle will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

54-40 OR FIGHT

BY EMERSON HOUGH
AUTHOR OF "THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER"

"Yes, so far as I know, madam, you are the only lady who ever left the east room precisely as clad. And no you got into your own carriage—alone—after awhile? And so, when you were there you put on the shoes which was left? And so Yturrio of Mexico got the other one—and found nothing in it! And so, he wanted this one!"

"You come on," she said. "You have something more than a trace of brain."

"And that other shoe, which I got that night?"

Without a word she smoothed out a bit of paper which she removed from a near-by desk, and handed it to me. "This was in yours! As I said, in my confusion I supposed you had it. You said I should go in a sack. I suppose I did! I suppose I lost my head, somewhere! But certainly I thought you had found the note and given it to Mr. Calhoun; also I should have driven harder terms with him! I would drive harder terms with you, now, were I not in such haste to learn the answer to my question! Tell me, were you married?"

"Is that answer worth more than Van Zandt?" I smiled.

"Yes," she answered, also smiling. "I spread the page upon the cloth before me; my eyes raced down the lines. I did not make further reply to her."

"Madam," went on the communication, "say to your august friend Sir Richard that we have reached the end of our endurance of these late delays. The promises of the United States mean nothing. We can trust neither Whig nor Democrat any longer. There is no one party in power, nor will there be. There are two sections in America and there is no nation, and Texas knows not where to go. We have offered to Mr. Tyler to join the union if the union will allow us to join. We intend to reserve our own lands and reserve the right to organize later into four or more states, if our people shall so desire. But as a great state we will join the union if the union will accept us. That must be soon."

"England now beseeches us not to enter the union, but to stand apart, either for independence or for alliance with Mexico and England. The proposition has been made to us to divide into two governments, one free and one slave. England has proposed to us to advance us money to pay all our debts if we will agree to this. Settled by bold men from our mother country, the republic, Texas has been adverse to this. But now our own mother repudiates us, not once but many times. We get no decision. This then, dear madam, is from Texas to England by your hand, and we know you will carry it safe and secret. We shall accept this proposal of England, and avail ourselves of the richness of her generosity."

"If within thirty days action is not taken in Washington for the annexation of Texas, Texas will never in the history of the world be one of the United States. Moreover, if the United States shall lose Texas, also they lose Oregon, and all of Oregon. Carry this news—I am persuaded that it will be welcome—to that gentleman whose ear I know you have; and believe me always, my dear madam, with respect and admiration, yours, for the state of Texas, Van Zandt."

I drew a deep breath as I saw this proof of double play on the part of this representative of the republic of the southwest. "They are traitors!" I exclaimed. "But there must be action—something must be done at once. I must not wait; I must go! I must take this, at least, to Mr. Calhoun."

She laughed now, joyously clapping her white hands together. "Good!" she said. "You are a man, after all. You may yet grow brain."

"Have I been fair with you thus far?" she asked at length.

"More than fair. I could not have asked this of you! In an hour I have learned the news of years. But will you not also tell me what is the news from Chateau Ramzey? Then, indeed, I could go home feeling I had done very much for my chief."

"Monsieur, I cannot do so. You will not tell me that other news."

"Of your nuptials!"

"Madam, I cannot do so. But for you, much as I owe you, I would like to wring your neck. I would like to take your arms in my hands and crush them, until—"

"Until what?" Her face was strange. I saw a hand raised to her throat.

"Until you told me about Oregon!" said I.

I saw her arms move—just one instant—her body incline. She gazed at me steadily, somberly. Then her hands fell.

"Ah, God! how I hate you both!" she said; "you and her. You were married, after all! Yes, it can be, it can be! A woman may love one man—even though he could give her only a bed of husk! And a man may love a woman, too—one woman. I had not known."

"Monsieur, adieu!" she added swiftly. I bent and kissed her hand.

"Madam, au revoir!"

"No, adieu! Go!"

CHAPTER XVII.

A Hunter of Butterflies.

I love men, not because they are men, but because they are not women.—Queen Christina.

There was at that time in Montreal a sort of news room and public exchange, which made a place of general meeting. It was supplied with newspapers and the like, and kept up by subscriptions of the town merchants—a spacious room made out of the old Methodist chapel on St. Joseph street. I knew this for a place of town gossip, and hoped I might hit upon something to aid me in my errand, which was no more than begun, it seemed. Entering the place shortly before noon, I made pretense of reading, all the while with an eye and an ear out for anything that might happen.

As I started in pretense at the page before me, I fumbled idly in a pocket, with unthinking hand, and brought out to place before me on the table, an object of which at first I was unconscious—the little Indian blanket clasp.

As it lay before me I felt seized of a sudden hatred for it, and let fall on it a heavy hand. As I did so, I heard a voice at my ear.

"Meln Gott, man, do not! You break it surely!"

I started at this. I had not heard any one approach. I discovered now that the speaker had taken a seat near me at the table, and could not fail to see this object which lay before me.

"Pardon me," he said, in a broken speech which showed his foreign birth; "but it is so beautiful; to break it is wrong."

Something in his appearance and speech fixed my attention. He was a tall, bent man, perhaps, sixty years of age, of gray hair and beard, with the glasses and the unmistakable air of the student. His stooped shoulders, his weakened eye, his thin, blue-veined hand, the iron-gray hair standing like a ruff above his forehead, marked him out as one acquainted with a wild life, but better fitted for other days and scenes.

I pushed the trinket along the table towards him.

"It is of little value," I said, "and is always in the way when I would find anything in my pocket."

"But once some one has made it; once it has been valued. Tell me where you got it?"

"North of the Platte, in our western territories," I said. "I once traded in that country."

"You are American?"

"Yes," he said thoughtfully. "So. A great country; a very great country. No, I also live in it."

"Indeed!" I said. "In what part?"

"It is five years since I cross the Rockies."

"You have crossed the Rockies? I envy you."

"You misunderstand me. I live west of them for five years. I am now come east."

"You have been at Fort Vancouver?" he nodded. "Also to Fort Colville, far north; also to what they call California, far south; and again to what they may yet call Fort Victoria. I have seen many posts of the Hudson Bay Company."

"I was afraid my eyes showed my interest; but he went on."

"I have been in the Columbia country, and in the Willamette country, where most of your Americans are settled. I know somewhat of California. Mr. Howard, of the Hudson Bay Company, knows also of the country of California. He said to those English gentlemen at our meeting last night that England should have something to offset California on the west coast; because, though Mexico claims California, the Yankees really rule there, and will rule there yet more. He is right; but they laughed at him."

"Oh, I think little will come of all this talk," I said carelessly. "It is very far, out to Oregon." Yet all the time my heart was leaping. So he

"So, then, it is a great country?" I asked.

"It is so great, these traders do not wish it known. They wish only that it may be savage; also that their posts and their herds may be undisturbed. That is what they wish. These Scots go wild again, in the wilderness. They trade and they travel, but it is not homes they build, but not places west of the Rockies. That is all!"

The Ticklemouse and his Sleepyland Adventures with Davy and Dorfy

By Roy Rutherford Bailey

Jogging Through the Jungle

"Tiger, tiger, burning bright," the twins, who had just been roused from a deep sleep by the tickling touch that always began the night's adventure, sat up in bed and listened, rubbing their eyes and staring at the new tiger skin rug. For upon it knelt the Ticklemouse, softly singing:

"Tiger, tiger, burning bright, Barker, Shere Khan! Wake, and hear us through the night Far from haunts of man!"

Bear us where in jungles deep Kaka, that mighty snake, Coils in ambush, half asleep—Wake, oh tiger! Wake!"

The tiger rug, as the twins could see, was growing thicker, taller, rounder. The Ticklemouse rose slowly to his feet, still chanting the same song. Then the tiger's striped tail began to twitch and lash back and forth; a low, purring growl jarred the quiet room. The man-cater had come to life!

Davy jumped out of bed. Dorfy took one look at the beast's blazing eyes, then covered her face with the pillow.

"The Ticklemouse laughed. 'Don't be afraid, children,' he whispered. 'Old Painted-Sides has done his last harm in this world, and now has to do just as I tell him. Don't you, Shere Khan?' and he helped the twins to mount.

The restless tiger nodded his wicked head and barked the command.

"Now," breathed the Mouse into the tiger's twitching ear. "Now—to the jungle, Shere Khan!"

The big jungle cat whirled on velvet paws, sprang through the window, and was off like a yellow streak into the night. He raced along, distance melting under his flying feet. They came to the ocean's brink. Without pausing, the tiger flung himself into midair, landing safely on the other side after a leap that seemed hour-long to the twins. And before he stopped for breath, the air grew heavy with tropical perfume, a mass of brilliant green rose before them like a wall, and like a great living trap the jungle closed around them.

hands to stop them, tough little tendrils of creeping vines, those that caught their clothing, dense thickets of elephant grass that were higher than a man's head and gnarled, twisted tree roots that tripped them and held them fast. At last they could hear the rush of the river. The Mouse began to walk even more cautiously.

"Lie down, quickly!" he whispered, suddenly. Davy and Dorfy threw themselves flat in the tall grass, and found they could see the shining river, hardly a stone's throw away. And then, there in the heart of the wilderness, they heard a song.

A pack of jungle wolves was coming down to drink. And right in their midst there ran a little brown boy, swift and strong as a young wolf himself, with long, taunted black hair. He threw himself on the river bank and drank his fill with the wolves. Then he lifted his head sharply as a dry twig cracked under Davy's restless hands. For a moment the wolf-pack listened with him, snubbing the breeze suspiciously. Then they all trotted back up the river bank, running with noses up to the ground as they took up the trail. In the midst again ran the boy, shoulder to shoulder with the tall leaders of the pack, singing:

"Now, by the bull that brought me, The man-pack long has sought me, Yet never man has caught me—Run, wolf brothers, run!"

For through the jungle creeping Or through the open leaping, What can shall catch us sleeping? None, wolf brothers, none!"

And the twins knew that Mowgli, the Man-Cub, had shown himself to his kind.

The three crept silently back to the tiger, who cringed and whimpered when the Ticklemouse climbed with the twins to his back again, bounding through the jungle and across the open at the Mouse's first word. He was only a beast of burden now.

When morning came the sun peeped through the nursery window and saw the twins still asleep on either side of a great tiger skin rug.

"What a monster!" said the sun to the breeze. "What a wonderful tiger-skin! It looks almost as if it were alive!"

Davy and Dorfy woke at his words and saw the red-faced sun smiling at them. But the sun did not know that the tiger skin had been alive all the long, wild night. Only the twins and the Ticklemouse—yes, and the silent moon—knew that. And the moon never, never tells.

DAILY DIET HINTS
By Dr. T. J. Allen

ENTIRE WHEAT BREAD MAKES CHILDREN HEALTHY

The entire wheat grain contains every element of nutrition in meat and takes the eliminative organs less, causing less auto-intoxication, which is the common source of disease, the condition precedent, whatever the exciting cause or determining germ may be. One can live on entire wheat bread indefinitely, better than on the average mixed diet, including meat. Wheat can be bought for two cents a pound, and the best possible flour made by running it, after thorough washing, twice or oftener through a kitchen mill, grinding finer, if possible, than the ordinary food chopper. A little peanut butter (unroasted) may be added to some made of this flour, baked at low temperature. Children brought up on this diet, with fruit at a separate meal, and having the bread dry enough to prevent sticky eating and compel exercise of the teeth and jaws, will never have appendicitis nor much sickness in any form. If allowed to play freely in the open air, and not sent to school too soon, nor overworked—wrecked by overstudy and worry in school and home.

A FAMOUS HEALTH BUILDER

A medicine that will cleanse the bowels and put them in condition to do their proper work unaided will do more than anything else to preserve health and strength. Such a medicine is the tonic laxative herb tea, Lane's Family Medicine. It is a safe package today at any drug store or dealer's. No matter what you have tried before, try this famous herb tea.

Wanted to Spare It Pain.

Dorothy had been staying with her grandfather, and heard much talk about it being kinder to shoot a very old carriage horse than was long past work than to sell it. When she went home one day she heard her parents talking of selling their present motor car and buying a new one. "Oh, mamma," she exclaimed, "do have it shot, instead!"—Home Chat.

Oyster Society.

It is but seldom one imagines that a good joke is made about an oyster. Edmund Yates, however, in his "Recollections and Experiences," relates one. "I was walking with him one evening from the club," writes Yates, "and passing a fish shop in New Street, he noticed two different tubs of oysters, one marked 'A dozen,' and the other 'A do a dozen.' 'How they must hate each other!' said Thackeray."

AN HONEST DOCTOR

remarked to his patient who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after his efforts had failed. "Mrs. Weber, I do not believe in patent medicines, but I will say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine ever discovered for women. Continue to use it." This is another link in the long chain of evidence to prove the reliability of this standard medicine for women.

$2080 Buys a 160 Acre Farm

11 Years Time to Pay, 6% Interest

Here is an opportunity that every man wishing to buy land should investigate. We claim for this land better climate, better soil, better transportation to market, and better terms of payment, than any other land in Canada, North Dakota, Montana, or anywhere in the United States.

The land is a 1,000,000-acre tract owned by the Canadian Pacific Ry., located at Castor, Canada. They want to get it settled so as to secure more traffic for the railroad.

The crops from a single year have more than paid for the entire farm. It raises more wheat, more corn, more oats, than does Wisconsin land.

It's an opportunity that requires but little capital and will bring greater results than any land hereabouts. Men become independent in just a few years. You will be enthused if you read our booklet, "Facts and Figures." Send for it, it's free.

Teeth of Sperm Whale.

A teacher writes that after instructing pupils for years that the toothless condition of the sperm whale accounted for the ability of Jonah to invade one without abrasion, she has been informed that the sperm has teeth, and wants to know if this is a fact. It is. The sperm whale has a score or more of teeth, according to age. These protrude at least two inches, making a really dangerous barrier to any scheme of using the place for a toboggan slide.

The high price of salt and the plate and the lack of skilled knowledge are retarding the Siberian canned fish industry.
